Tactical Imaging, LLC is an innovative company providing services and software to increase the safety of first responders when entering and navigating large buildings. Our key offering involves our proprietary method for placing safety and informational tags throughout a building that can be read by a first responder even in low or no light conditions. Those physical tags are then plotted on a high quality CAD drawing that is available to the incident commander allowing them to locate personnel inside the building with a single radio call. Our innovation was recently recognized with our receipt of the Small Business Commerce Association's Best of Business Award for 2009.

Our Tactical Advantage™ Fire Fighter Edition software, currently under development, will integrate Planning, Inspection, Command and Reporting into one easily navigated platform providing Fire Fighters and Incident Commanders with the most integrated and comprehensive information available on key facilities within their jurisdiction. Additionally our participation with the SynergyMC2 Innovation Center allows us to take advantage of other eco-friendly safety products, such as GlowMark™ to offer a higher degree safety to first responders when involved in an incident.
